Twentieth Century French composer, Maurice Ravel, believed the primary purpose of art to be senuous delight. Rhombus Media Inc.'s stunningly beautiful film retrospective, RAVEL, fulfills that very directive. Larry Weinstein's tribute gives deep insight into a personality and talent that refused to be ordinary. RAVEL will show you The Esprit Orchestra, Toronto Dance Theatre, Alicia de Larrocha, Victoria de los Angeles, and the Montreal Symphony, at their most intriguing.

The Esprit Orchestra, established only five years ago, is a forty-piece ensemble devoted to commissioning and performing the best of contemporary music, with emphasis on Canadian works. Its founder and conductor, Alex Pauk, guides an orchestra which, like Ravel, dares to be different. An evening with Ravel for the benefit of The Esprit Orchestra is a perfect match.
